Overview

This implementation plan translates the findings of the 2026 Money Laundering, Terrorist Financing, and Proliferation Financing National Risk Assessment into a focused programme of work for the following 18 months. While the NRA provides a comprehensive picture of Ireland's exposure to money laundering, terrorist financing, and proliferation financing risks, this plan outlines how the State will address the areas where further improvement has been identified. It identifies the concrete steps required to strengthen our defences, enhance coordination across the public and private sectors, and ensure that Ireland remains resilient in the face of evolving threats.

The actions outlined here are designed to move the system from understanding to execution. They bring clarity to the roles and responsibilities of government departments, law enforcement agencies, regulators, and the private sector. They also outline the outcomes we expect to achieve and the timelines within which progress must be made. Collectively, these measures will support a more robust, agile, and intelligence-led national framework.

This plan is also forward looking. It reflects the State's ambition to demonstrate clear and measurable progress ahead of the 2028 Mutual Evaluation and to embed a culture of continuous improvement within our wider National Economic Crime Strategy. By focusing attention and resources on the areas of highest priority, we are committing to a safer society and more secure financial system. While the implementation plan assigns individual actions to designated responsible bodies, the delivery of these will be driven through a collegial and coordinated approach across all involved agencies.

The work that follows is both practical and strategic. Its successful delivery will depend on sustained collaboration across all sectors. With this plan, we take the next step towards ensuring that Ireland's openness, stability, and economic integrity continue to serve the interests of our people and our partners for many years to come.

Introduction

This implementation plan sets out the framework through which the State will operationalise the priorities identified in the National Risk Assessment. It provides a structured pathway from risk identification to effective mitigation, ensuring that the findings of the NRA inform concrete and coordinated action across the AML, CFT, and CPF framework. In line with the FATF Standards, the plan adopts a risk-based approach and is designed to support progress against the relevant FATF Immediate Outcomes, in particular Immediate Outcome 1 on risk, policy, and coordination. It recognises that effectiveness is driven not only by the existence of measures, but by how well policies, supervisory activity, operational responses, and preventive measures are aligned and implemented in practice. Accordingly, the plan emphasises coherence, sequencing, and clear allocation of responsibility across competent authorities.

Delivery of the plan will be guided by a small number of core principles consistent with FATF expectations. The associated priority actions are SMART, that is, specific, measurable, achievable, realistic, and time bound, enabling demonstrable assessment of progress and effectiveness. Actions are proportionate to the risks identified and informed by intelligence, data, and supervisory and operational experience, supporting improvements across a range of Immediate Outcomes. Progress will be overseen through established governance arrangements to support monitoring, coordination, and escalation where required. The plan also reflects the critical role of the private sector in achieving effective outcomes and highlights the importance of structured engagement and information sharing. By setting clear expectations and focusing on delivery, this document introduces a programme of work intended to strengthen Ireland's overall effectiveness and support a positive trajectory towards the 2028 Mutual Evaluation.

High Level Priority Actions

The NRA outlines a set of five high level priority actions designed to strengthen Ireland's response to ML, TF and PF risks. These actions focus on closing identified gaps and reinforcing measures already in place.

Risk and Coordination:

Identify emerging risks and challenges through collaboration with civil society to enhance understanding of the modus operandi of crimes and to support analysis. This will also include communication between law enforcement agencies (LEAs) and prosecutors to discuss case-specific challenges while promoting mutual awareness and trust. This will be supported by multiple government agencies, including law enforcement, regulators, and legal entities, working together to identify and combat money laundering threats including the production of strategic analysis. This collaboration ensures that all relevant parties share information, understand their roles, and align on strategies to effectively mitigate the risks identified in the NRA.

Capacity Building and Public Awareness:

Strengthening the AML/CFT/CPF capacity of LEAs, prosecutors, the FIU, supervisors and reporting institutions through training and workshops. The focus will be centred on deepening the understanding of emerging risks and the modus operandi of ML/TF/PF. In addition, public awareness and education initiatives on money mule accounts targeting vulnerable groups will be prioritised to ensure public vigilance.

Law Enforcement:

Strengthen risk-based, intelligence-led enforcement and enhance inter-agency and cross-sectoral co-ordination.

Framework (including Legal), Policy and Strategy:

AML/CFT/CPF measures are directly informed and justified by data and findings from the NRA. Basing policies, allocation of resources, and implementation of new, risk-based measures on a comprehensive understanding of Ireland's specific ML/TF/PF threats and vulnerabilities.

Regulatory and Preventive:

This includes sectoral, entity-level risk understanding, supervision, regulatory actions (including enforcement), compliance obligations, outreach and information.

Priority Actions Implementation Plan

Action	Delivery Timeline	Responsible Body	FATF IO	High-level Priority Action
1 Enhance data collection and analysis of ML/TF threats and vulnerabilities sourced from STRs, investigations, prosecutions, convictions, and asset seizures. The enhanced data collection and analysis will build on improved cooperation and allow for timely collation and dissemination to/between law enforcement, supervisors and private sector firms. This will include enhancements to FIU Ireland's STR collection toolkit which will allow for improved analytical capabilities (including strategic and operational analysis) and an enhanced ML/TF analytical capacity for the ODPP.	Q2 2027	FIU Ireland AGS ODPP CAB	IO 1 IO 6	Risk and Coordination Framework (including Legal), Policy and Strategy
2 The Central Bank will: • Enhance data collection on ML/TF and financial sanctions evasion risk and quality of AML/CFT controls via the rollout of its updated Risk Evaluation Questionnaire (REQ) on a sector-by-sector basis • Undertake targeted analysis of sectors and products, including cross-border financial flows, to identify vulnerabilities and areas where the threat from predicate offences (including fraud) is greatest • Align supervisory strategy to target supervisory activity proportionately based on identified risks • Provide periodic, structured feedback to sectors and firms on ML/TF and financial sanctions evasion risks and associated AML/CFT obligations (in line with 6AMLD requirements), building on enhanced REQ data and supervisory engagement with firms. Firms will be expected to incorporate this feedback into their business-wide risk assessments and AML/CFT systems and controls. 3	In the context of a changing financial services landscape, and new technologies and innovation presenting opportunities and risks, the following actions will be taken: • Regulated financial firms should ensure their AML/CFT frameworks keep pace with changing threats and vulnerabilities arising out of new technologies and innovation and apply the necessary measures to prevent, detect and report ML/TF, financial sanctions evasion, and associated predicate offences (e.g. financial fraud). • The Central Bank will continue to make full use of its entire regulatory and supervisory toolkit to ensure that the financial services sector has identified and mitigated ML/TF and financial sanctions evasion risks and associated criminal threats. It should in particular: ○ Develop a systematic understanding of how emerging technologies (including AI) create both vulnerabilities and present opportunities for improved AML/CFT systems and controls. ○ Set out its expectations to firms regarding their AML/CFT governance, risk management, and wider control frameworks to keep pace with the criminal deployment of new technologies. ○ Ensure that greater use of technology is integrated into regulatory and supervisory activity. FATF 40 Recommendations

The FATF Recommendations provide a comprehensive framework of measures to help countries tackle illicit financial flows. These include a robust framework of laws, regulations, and operational measures to ensure national authorities can take effective action to detect and disrupt financial flows that fuel crime and terrorism, and to counter money laundering and proliferation financing activity. The 2022 methodology for the 5th round of mutual evaluations is now in effect with the first countries' mutual evaluations reports to be reviewed in June 2025.

Recommendation 1: Assessing risks and applying a risk-based approach

Recommendation 2: National cooperation and coordination

Recommendation 3: Money laundering offence

Recommendation 4: Confiscation and provisional measures

Recommendation 5: Terrorist financing offence

Recommendation 6: Targeted financial sanctions related to terrorism and terrorist financing

Recommendation 7: Targeted financial sanctions related to proliferation

Recommendation 8: Non-profit organisations

Recommendation 9: Financial institution secrecy laws

FATF 11 Immediate Outcomes

The FATF Recommendations are the building blocks for an effective framework to combat money laundering and terrorist financing. However, what is essential is that they are implemented effectively, not merely transposed into a national legal, regulatory or operational framework as a tick-box exercise. The measures need to be adapted to a country's national context and mitigate the specific risks it faces.

The FATF Methodology identifies 11 key areas, or Immediate Outcomes (listed below), that an effective framework to protect the financial system from abuse should achieve. The FATF Methodology is also used to assess the effectiveness of a country's actions and their compliance with the technical requirements of the FATF Recommendations.

Immediate Outcome 1: Risk, policy and co-ordination

Immediate Outcome 2: International co-operation

Immediate Outcome 3: Financial Sector Supervision and Preventive Measures

Immediate Outcome 4: Non-Financial Sector Supervision and Preventive Measures

Immediate Outcome 5: Legal persons and arrangements

Immediate Outcome 6: Financial intelligence

Immediate Outcome 7: ML investigation and prosecution

Immediate Outcome 8: Confiscation

Immediate Outcome 9: TF investigation and prosecution

Immediate Outcome 10: TF preventive measures and financial sanctions

Immediate Outcome 11: PF financial sanctions
